Luxury ceramic single-bowl sink Chambord Farmhouse 595 is made by the prestigious German company Villeroy & Boch. This sink is perfect for rustic kitchens, but it will also work well with more modern kitchen designs. Ceramic sinks have recently been enjoying great popularity. Especially modular sinks are increasingly being installed in kitchens.

The Farmhouse 595 sink basin (17 cm) is deep enough for comfortable dishwashing. The standalone modular sink is designed for a minimum cabinet size of 60 cm. Sink installation is recommended mainly for non-porous material countertops. In the case of a solid surface countertop, the sink is installed under the countertop. For a wooden countertop, we recommend that the sink slightly overhangs the countertop to prevent water contact.

A great advantage of a ceramic sink is its easy maintenance. Furthermore, you will surely appreciate its hygiene, resistance to high temperatures, and resistance to impact and scratches. Ceramic sinks are color-fast, the sink does not yellow, and even after many years, the sink retains its fresh white color.
